“A thing that you see in my pictures is that I was not afraid to fall in love with these people.”

- Annie Leibovitz

Nowadays, people are so fond of documenting every moment of their lives. Random scenes, things, and memories can frequently be seen in their photo collections. The so-called millennials, including me, are enthusiastic when it comes to capturing random things that we find very aesthetically pleasing. If you’ll take a look at my collection, it has thousands of random screenshots, the skies, the insides of a pen, a playlist, a book page, and some other strange things found in my camera, but of course, it is not just a collection of strange looking photos; most of them have significance too. I do believe that there are meanings behind someone’s pictures. How about you? Do you also believe that every picture has a meaning?